How can the Loras High School pre-season clinic make me better?

The Loras Pre-season Camp offers local male high school soccer players, about to begin their season, a chance to get a jump start on the competition.

The camp will provide personalized technical and tactical instruction and soccer specific fitness conditioning to help you be ready for the start of your season. Whether your goal is to be an All-Conference player or to just make your high school team, the Loras coaching staff will provide you with the tools you need to meet your goals and to have you ready for your season. The camp will be held outdoors which will make this pre-season training even better!

Who is the camp for?

All Dubuque-area high school male soccer players. Also, open to 8th graders looking to get a feel for high school soccer.

Where will the clinic be held?

The camp will take place in Loras' Rock Bowl Stadium. We are pleased that we will now be able to hold our pre-season camp outdoors (during a time of the year when most grass fields would not cooperate). This will allow participants a chance to train outdoors, on a championship-quality field, and get the most out of this camp as they prepare for their upcoming season.

The Rock Bowl Stadium is the home to Loras Soccer and features an all-weather turf surface and lights. The field does not get saturated and soggy like grass fields, so it is playable in most weather conditions. If the weather does not allow (too cold or snow) the camp will move indoors to Loras' Graber Sports Center and the Fieldhouse.

We will meet just inside the doors of the Graber Sports Center before we get started the first evening.

What to bring?

Come dressed and ready to play soccer. Shin guards are mandatory. Cleats are recommended for the Rock Bowl. Dress for the weather. Also, bring indoor shoes and clothes in case of foul weather.

Possible make-up date in case of foul weather; Friday, March 12.
